

Ben Leach

I'm a Registered Mental Health Nurse, and a specialist in Mental Capacity. My career has been wide and varied, however has always centred on giving a voice to those who struggle to be heard and trying, wherever I can, to raise the profile of mental health and learning disability care provision so that it has the same regard and priority as that of physical healthcare.

I became involved with the Williams Syndrome Foundation after I did a piece of work alongside a member and haven't looked back! I offer support and guidance in relation to all things concerning the Mental Capacity Act and decision making.
